Dear Clients,

Given the restrictions in place due to Coronavirus/Covid-19, in-person tutoring is simply not a safe and effective option for the foreseeable future. Current government recommendations mandate staying six feet apart from one another and wearing masks in public. These requirements make it impossible to effectively tutor students in person—a masked tutor instructing a student from far away is hardly an optimal way for your child to learn.

Fortunately, our online tutoring platform does provide the ideal learning solution in this difficult time. Our Socrates system features:

- Secure, live videoconferencing with a highly trained tutor
- Screen-sharing so your child can interact with PowerPoints, documents, and other instructional media
- A virtual whiteboard on which both the tutor and student can demonstrate problems
- A safe, relaxed environment—the focus is on learning the material instead of avoiding illness.

Here's more information about online tutoring, including a video demonstration:

Not all online tutoring is created equal; we have fine-tuned our system over many years of tutoring online clients to ensure its quality is second-to-none. Please email us at tutor@bwseducationconsulting.com with questions.

Sincerely,
